Reconstruction of the cadet's instruction hall and other buildings destroyed by fire some months ago at the Esquimalt naval dockyard, has been authorized by the Federal Government. A supplementary vote passed at Ottawa makes provision for $120,000, covering the cost of reconstruction of destroyed buildings and equipment. Valuable electrical equipment contained in the cadet instruction hall was totally destroyed by fire.

The construction of a new boathouse for naval purposes at Esquimalt has also been authorized at a cost of $20,000.

Erection of the new lazaretto buildings at the Bentinck Island leper station will be proceeded with at a total cost of $145,000.

Together with the vote of $1,600,000 for the completion of the new Federal dockyard, announcement of which has previously been made in these columns, the Dominion Government's recent appropriations for development work at Victoria in the aggregate are $1,765,000.

JUDGE TO HEAR REQUEST FOR BAIL FOR WONG

Habeas Corpus Effort on Behalf of Chinese Houseboy To-day Failed

Application For Bail to be Made To-morrow in Terminal City

Vancouver, June 23.—Wong Foon Sing's application for release on a writ of habeas corpus was refused by Chief Justice Hunter today. An application for bail was suggested by the Chief Justice, and W. D. Carter, K.C., Deputy Attorney-General, after remarking, "Candidly, I think it is a case for bail," agreed the application should be made to-morrow based his decision on a review of authorities which held that no matter how great the injustice he had no power to displace the magistrate's committal order.

CONVICTION NOT EXPECTED

"There is some evidence—true, it is scanty—and due to the powerful examination to which it has been subjected by Mr. Senkler, I don't see how any court could convict on it," said the Chief Justice, "but the Chinese was in the house, there was blood on his clothes and some evidence was offered to rebut the suggestion of suicide or accident. It is therefore clearly in the power of the magistrate to commit, as the authorities show he is entitled to take his own view of the evidence."

If I were to cut across the proceedings at this stage I should be usurping the functions of the magistrate, of the Attorney-General, who has the right to enter a nolle prosequi, and of the grand jury, which has to examine the evidence before a trial can be held."

British Loan to France Discussed

Paris, June 23.—Finance Minister Caillaux declines to confirm or deny reports from London that negotiations are under way with a British banking group for a loan of £20,000,000 to support French exchange.

Majorities Are Given For Church Union

Winnipeg, June 23.—While the late report of the Manitoba Presbytery continued to swell the Presbyterian majority for church union in Manitoba, one suburban church at Weston voted in the negative. It was the first vote recorded against church union in Manitoba, the final count showing a majority of forty-seven against, the total vote being five for and fifty-two against.

A controversial situation prevails at Old Kildonan Church, where last night a meeting of seventy-two members voted unanimously against continuing in union. Members in favor of union, supported by their pastor, Rev. Dr. S. Miller, declared the vote was illegal, as the meeting had not been properly called, but a statement by Major Rev. W. F. McConnell, Dominion organizer at the Presbyterian Church Association, states it was held in accordance with the provincial act.

PRINCES AND PAUPERS IN GERMANY AS SEEN BY WORLD FAMOUS WAR CORRESPONDENT

Sir Philip Gibbs Describes German Hysteria—Whirlpool of Money Inflation—Professors Living in Night Asylums—Long Factory Hours—Cost of Living Soaring Beyond Reach—Declining Birthrate—Horror of Tubercular School Children—Hugo Stinnes' Breadline—The Determination to Recover.

By SIR PHILIP GIBBS

THE German people look back to the time—a year ago—when they were in the whirlpool of money inflation, as a wild nightmare in which they nearly, and perhaps quite, lost their sense of reason and moral balance. Certainly at that time, as I saw, the whole German nation was hysterical and on the edge of nervous breakdown. Is it any wonder, when they saw their whole financial structure slipping and toppling toward a precipice below which lay a bottomless pit of ruin?

It was not only the bankers and the politicians who realized the enormous hazard of their state. It was brought home with a sense of terror to the middle class of citizen or working man, whose weekly wage—though counted in millions, and then billions, of marks—withered away in a few hours as he could rush to the nearest shop and turn it into something real. Thrift was abolished among the most thrifty people in the world because those who saved money lost it. People living on the interest of inherited capital or invested wealth were made penniless, while the Government printing machines throbbed in larger revolutions to the output of paper money which at last had no purchasing value at all inside or outside the country.

That point was reached when passive resistance broke down in the Ruhr because the stubborn workmen there who refused to labor under French command found they must return to work or starve; and when the financial brains who had organized, or submitted to, this colossal swindle of "inflation," this ruthless robbery of their own folk, this wild gamble with national credit, saw that the limit had been reached and the game was up.

The secret forces, or the political madness, behind that machinery of inflation have not yet been told or discovered. The story does not matter very much, except in historical interest, for that period is past, and refers to it only because the present psychology of the German people, and their new social conditions, cannot be understood unless one remembers that time of paper madness when their nerves were like harp strings to every gust of passion and emotion, and when the most powerful people in Europe found themselves sinking into a bog of despair, humiliation, and bankruptcy.

Charles Henry White, Fisherman, Charged With Crime in North Vancouver

Man Held as Result of F. Rosso's Death Has Indian Blood in Veins

Vancouver, June 23.—Charles Henry White, known as "Sonny" White, was arrested this morning and charged with the murder of Frank Rosso, North Vancouver Italian store-keeper who was killed after a desperate struggle in his confectionery shop early Monday morning by some person wearing an axe.

A canoe, owned by White, is held as evidence against him. It is alleged by the police that White paddled back to Vancouver from the North Shore after Sunday midnight. White was picked up this morning by Vancouver City detectives who had been searching for him. The arrest was made on a warrant taken out by Police Chief Peter Stewart of North Vancouver. He was placed in the city cells to be turned over later to the North Vancouver police.

IS A FISHERMAN

White is a quarter-breed Indian and is a fisherman by occupation. It is stated by the city police that he was suspected of complicity in connection with the murder of a Chinese in a store here in 1920 in which robbery was the motive, as in the Rosso case. In the former case White was held by the police for investigation, but was released. The murder was not solved.

SENATORS OBJECT TO BARRING OUT OF HORSE RACE TIPS

Upper House Strikes Out Clause Designed to Govern Canadian Newspapers

Provision Was Given Approval When Measure Before House of Commons

Ottawa, June 23.—The special committee of the Senate dealing with Criminal Code amendments this morning struck out the provisions which would have prohibited newspapers from publishing horse racing tips and odds. Two years ago a similar provision was approved by the Commons and was defeated in the Senate.

When the measure came before the Senate committee today, W. H. Edwards, Deputy Minister of Justice, said the bill would prohibit the publication of racing information by newspapers, whether printed in Canada or imported.

Sir James Loughheed, Conservative, questioned how such a provision could be enforced against foreign newspapers.

"How could you restrain them from coming into Canada for distribution?" he asked. "You would need a whole army of policemen."

"You would enforce it in the ordinary way, that anyone selling or distributing such newspapers would be liable to prosecution."

NOTE FROM POWERS

Peking, June 23.—The foreign diplomatic corps today sent a note to the Chinese Government declining to accept responsibility for delays in settlement of the Shanghai strike troubles, and charging the Chinese Government with giving an inaccurate version of the recent series of incidents in Shanghai.

The note was handed to the Chinese Foreign Office by Signor Cerruti of Italy, dean of the foreign ministers. It was a reply to the last note from the Foreign Office, which attributed most of the recent Chinese disturbances to delays in adjustment of the strikes in Shanghai, and which presented an account of the disturbance, suffering radically in detail from the account insisted upon by the foreign diplomatic corps.

To-day's note from the foreign ministers said the Chinese Government's version was "in direct opposition to the accounts which have been established according to carefully confirmed data."

SETTLEMENT DELAYED

The note deplored what it described as an attitude of the Chinese Government "which is not of a nature to facilitate a friendly settlement," and added that the foreign ministers could not "admit the gratuitous imputation made by the Chinese Government concerning the delay occasioned by the settlement of the Shanghai incidents."

It said the foreign powers had acted with all possible diligence and consequently declined to accept responsibility for delay in adjustment of the Shanghai difficulties.

SAANICH TO BE OFFERED BIG REBATE

Victoria May Bonus Northward Watermain Extension

Bulk of Recent Price Increase Refunded to Extend Sooke Territory

Seeking to vastly increase water sales to Saanich Municipality, and to provide Sooke water with access to North Saanich, the City Finance Committee last night laid before the City Council proposals which, if adopted by the city and Saanich, will result in rebating to Saanich most of the recently increased prices put into effect by the city.

Saanich paid Victoria six cents per 1,000 gallons until June 1 last, when the price was increased to ten cents per 1,000 gallons. The finance committee proposal would return three of the four cents increase to Saanich, as a subsidy towards construction of a main trunk main through Keating district, capable of supplying Sooke water for irrigation purposes, and also providing for the needs of Saanich and the territory tributary thereto.

CULTIVATORS GAIN

The agreement suggested would be based on a five-year term, and would be contingent on two basic factors, first, that Saanich should sell water for irrigation purposes at not more than eleven cents per 1,000 gallons, and secondly, that Saanich should provide yearly for the construction of the main trunk main equal to the amount of the rebate received from the city.

BUILD OR PAY MORE

Based on its recommendations on the preliminary requirement of a five-year agreement, the finance committee proposed two alternatives:

1. The rate to be charged Saanich for water on and after June 1, 1925, to be ten cents per 1,000 gallons; the above rates of ten cents per 1,000 gallons to be charged, subject to:

(a) Saanich to sell water to consumers for irrigation purposes at a rate not higher than eleven cents per 1,000 imperial gallons;

(b) The city of Victoria, to rebate to Saanich the sum of three cents for each 1,000 imperial gallons paid for by Saanich, the said three cents to be expended in assisting the extension of a large main towards the northern part of Saanich municipality, provided that an amount equal to the sum realized by this rebate of three cents per 1,000 imperial gallons is contributed by the said municipality.

This rebate is to be subject to the condition that the main being made in a manner that in every way meets with the approval of the water commissioner of the city of Victoria.

2. The city, willing at any time to consider definite written proposals from Saanich, whereby the entire waterworks undertakings of both communities would become a joint enterprise, and the cost of the water sharing fully and fairly in whatever profits or losses that may from year to year accrue from the whole waterworks system.

With little debate the council approved clause one, requiring the completion of a five-year agreement for continuance of the present ten cent charges and alternative two was accorded approval of the closing recommendation, after he had assured Alderman Marchant that nothing was implied that the paragraph had been inserted to forestall charges of monopoly.

On the proposal to grant a rebate, Alderman Marchant could not see justice in permitting Saanich to sell water for irrigation, at eleven cents per 1,000 gallons, when the price was to be only seven cents and, as a result, the council was divided.

Alderman Blair with expert advice, looking ahead.

Alderman Blair stated that the cost of one large main through Saanich to serve North Saanich, and give the city a larger water sales area, would only be two-thirds the cost of two separate mains, one for the city's expansion of sales and another for Saanich.

He pointed out that, if Saanich agreed to the proposal, the municipality would have to expend on construction the whole of the sum required, and in addition an equal amount from territorial funds.

He would be practical to capitalize the five-year value of the estimated rebate, and carry out the construction as one undertaking, but that course would involve submission of a bill to the ratepayers of Saanich.

MILE YEARLY

Alderman Blair thought the funds provided by the scheme, if adopted, would enable one mile of extension to be carried out yearly, the work starting from Royal Oak.

Alderman Marchant and Clearhue asked for a week wherein to examine the scheme and the proposals were thereupon tabled until next week.

GROWERS AGGRIEVED

The council was informed that the irrigators of Gorge Head were seriously cutting down consumption since the Saanich Council increased the price of water from ten cents to eleven cents per 1,000 gallons, and strong complaints had been made to the finance committee regarding the action of the city, a result Alderman Todd believed the Saanich Council had foreseen when making the heavy increase.

JANET SMITH CASE

Mr. Jackson has departed from Victoria strictly proper methods in his work is unwarranted. Statements by those who have only a partial knowledge of the facts in regard to Mr. Jackson's work are harmful and unjust.

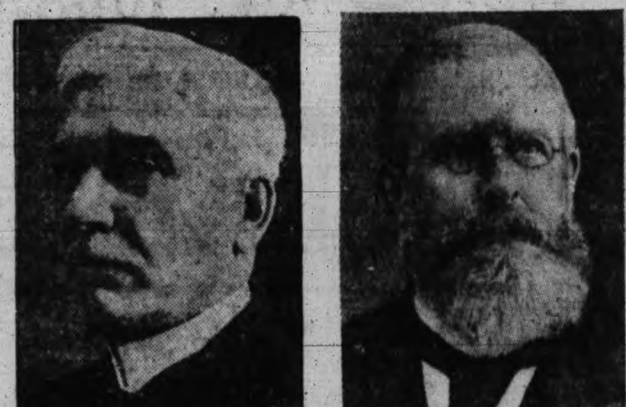

Mr. Jackson did his utmost to procure the release of Wong and was guided in his efforts by information gleaned from many quarters. I think I may fairly say that it was as a result of his efforts that Wong was released. Such of the statements in a Vancouver afternoon paper of yesterday which have been specially addressed to a conference held by Mr. Jackson, K.C., the Chinese Consul and Mr. Jackson in the hope of arriving at a solution of the abduction, I surely need say no more. Let us be British and have confidence that justice is administered fearlessly and fairly in British Columbia.

Announcement of the appointment of Sir William Muloock, Chief Justice of Ontario, and Hon. George P. Graham, Federal Minister of Railways and Canals, as members of the British Privy Council was made in the House of Commons in Ottawa last night by Premier King, who congratulated both. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, declared that while the announcement was sudden, it came as no surprise. Chief Justice Sir William Muloock had a long and distinguished career which in every way warranted the step that had been taken. Mr. Meighen heartily congratulated Mr. Graham upon his appointment and declared the whole announcement came as glad tidings. Mr. Graham and the Chief Justice are now entitled to be addressed as "Right Honorable."

From July, 1896 till October, 1905 Mr. Muloock was Postmaster-General in the Laurier Administration, resigning in the latter year to accept appointment to the High Court Bench of Ontario.

Senator Belcourt agreed that the clause would keep out English newspapers.

Mr. Edwards replied that United States newspapers coming in would have to have a Canadian editor, Canadian edition with the racing information left out.

"Are we so morally superior that we have to state that we are not for open consumption?" asked Sir James Loughheed.

AMENDMENT OFFERED

Senator R. S. White, Conservative, who was opposed to the whole clause, suggested an amendment which would have so modified it as to enable newspapers to report races or other sporting events.

Senator Dandurand, Government leader, expressed his willingness to accept this amendment, but the whole clause was finally struck from the bill, Senator Dandurand being the only dissenter.

ON THE LIST

On application the case of Rex vs. Fisher struck off the list on account of the absence of counsel was put on the list again and placed on the foot of the list.

RESERVE JUDGMENT

Judgment was reserved by the Court of Appeal yesterday in the case of Porter and Sons vs. Foster and Armstrong.

In this case an appeal is taken from the judgment of the Master of the Court of Appeal yesterday in the case of Porter and Sons vs. Foster and Armstrong.

This made J. H. Armstrong and W. A. Miller, responsible under a mortgage held by the plaintiff, W. W. Foster and W. Miller had purchased a piece of property in Victoria on which the plaintiff had a mortgage.

The contention of the plaintiff was that the two were jointly and severally entitled to pay. For the defendant-appellants it was argued that the covenant to pay was a joint one, but not several. It was argued that the plaintiff could not make any claim under the arrangements.

A. Macdonald, K.C., for the defendant-appellants, contended that the transaction between Foster and Miller was one of partnership. They were engaged in a joint adventure in land just the same as if it had been in goods.

H. B. Robertson, K.C., held that the covenant was a joint one. This was supported by the fact that Foster sold his share, which showed that it was not an ordinary trade partnership.

PIONEER WOMAN OF 1862 DIED LAST EVENING

Mrs. Mary Ann Wilson Was Brilliant Educator and Musician in Early Days

At her residence "Inglehurst," St. Charles Street, last night, Mrs. Mary Ann Penelope Wilson passed away at the advanced age of ninety-two years.

Mrs. Wilson was born in Nottingham in the home of her grandfather, Sir Granville Jukes Clifton, Bart., her father being a member of that ancient family, the baronetcy dating from the creation of the order on May 22, 1611.

She was a daughter of the Rev. William C. B. Clifton who held one of the family livings in Leicestershire. Mrs. Wilson was twice married.

In 1861 she became the wife of Francis William Atwood, the marriage being celebrated at the home of Sir William Maughey, Lord Mayor of London, and at St. Paul's Cathedral, London, in 1862 where she took a very prominent place in the life of the young community.

BRILLIANT EDUCATIONIST

She was a brilliant educationist, and her beautiful soprano voice and her ability as a skilled pianist made her a great acquisition to Victoria.

Her second marriage was to Mr. Thomas Wilson of Victoria. Two of her children, her eldest son, Francis Clifton Atwood, and her youngest son, Thomas Wilson, died during the life-time of their mother.

Her children who mourn her loss are Mr. William A. Atwood of Victoria; Mr. Robert Atwood of Victoria; Mrs. C. N. Cameron of Victoria; and Miss Olivia Wilson, at home. There are also eleven grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren. The grandchildren residing in Victoria are Mrs. E. Graham Williams, Mrs. Clifton Cameron, and Mr. Robert Cameron.

Mrs. Wilson was throughout her life a staunch member of the Reformed Episcopal Church and as one of the pioneer musicians of the early '60s she became the first organist of Christ Church Cathedral. Her long career has left a deep and lasting impression upon the intellectual life of the city.

Private funeral services will be held at the residence on Thursday at 10.30, after which the cortege will proceed to the Church of Our Lord, Reformed Episcopal, at 11 o'clock. Rev. A. de B. Owen officiating. Interment will be made in Ross Bay cemetery.

FIVE AND TEN CENT MILLIONAIRE FINDS MATRIMONY DEARER

First Venture Cost Him $38,000,000; Second Wife Sues For $7,000,000

New York, June 23.—His first venture into matrimony cost him $38,000,000, a one-hundred per cent loss, it is reported.

His second wife, Doris Mercer Kresge, has filed suit in supreme court here for $7,000,000, alleging it to be the unpaid balance of $20,000,000 of Kresge stock which he promised her in lieu of dower rights when they were married on April 24, 1924.

All she has received, papers in the suit allege, is 2,500 shares, valued at about $3,000,000, a one-hundred per cent loss, and a plush puppy dog from one of his stores. The petition indicates that this suit is the forerunner of an action for divorce.

He is thirty-two years of age and she is thirty-two.

The first Mrs. Kresge divorced him in Detroit last year after a ten-minute hearing. She is now said to have obtained a settlement of $10,000,000 and $5,000,000 additional for each of their five children.

The second Mrs. Kresge is the daughter of George A. Morger, of Pittsburgh. She ran away and joined a Broadway chorus before she was twenty.

She married Percival D. Harden, publisher of a weekly paper, and later divorced him. She says she has not seen Kresge since he jumped out of bed a few months ago, packed up his clothes and left.

Mr. Kresge has been a supporter of the anti-slavery league, and is reported, not more than thirty cents a day for luncheon.

Born on a farm of poor parentage, he began his business career as a clerk in a department store. After acquiring a small stake, he moved to Kunkleton, a suburban town of Pennsylvania, and there opened an emporium under his own name. Other stores were gradually added and within a score of years he had become one of the wealthiest men in the United States.

NEW SCHEME FOR HOME BANK RELIEF

Ottawa, June 23.—A suggestion that the Government should bring down a supplementary bill to the Home Bank Depositors' Relief Bill came up in the House of Commons this morning. William Irvine, Labor, in Winnipeg, declared in his summing up that the case hinged on a question, "Did Myers put gold filings in sample?"

"If he did, then assay returns were false," said Graham.

Mr. Bonnar, in his closing arguments, declared there was no evidence to show Myers had any motive for salting the mine. He had put a large amount of money into the mine.

Loganberry growers all over the Saanich Peninsula will be able to market their crops for wine purposes in large quantities as a result of a loan of $10,000 extended by the Government to-day to the Growers Wine Company. The loan, made through the Department of Industries, will enable the wine company to purchase sugar supplies and pay all necessary wages in the present season's operations.

Loganberry wine of the royal variety is part of the Government's vigorous effort to aid the fruit growers of Vancouver Island. So as to insure the sale of the wine, Loganberry wine the Government is selling it through its liquor stores where it is proving extremely popular.

The Growers' Wine Company last year manufactured 22,000 gallons of wine a large portion of which has since been sold, some to the British Columbia Government liquor shops and some in other parts of Canada.

Members of the Provincial Government will be called into special session to-morrow to decide whether a marketing loan of $10,000 should be extended to berry-growers of the Mainland this year or not. The matter has been under advisement for some time but action on it was postponed until Premier Oliver's return from Ottawa.

CRIMINAL CODE CHANGES DROPPED

Ottawa, June 23 (Canadian Press).—A special committee of the Senate, considering amendments to the Criminal Code passed by the House last night, rejected a clause which would have made anyone liable to a fine of $200 who used the word "Royal" without authority of the King or any member of the royal family. Other amendments were rejected by the Senate committee. On the amendment to prohibit publication of racing news, the committee suspended judgment and will summon witnesses to secure further information.

COLONY SCHEME FOR TUBERCULAR PATIENTS

Ottawa, June 23.—The Canadian Government is considering the sheltered employment and colony scheme for tubercular patients, which is being successfully used in Great Britain, according to Major N. F. Parkinson, Deputy Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, who spoke at the opening session of the annual convention of Tubercular Veterans' Association here yesterday. Major Parkinson said the Government first wanted the assurance that the veterans, if so placed, would stay with the colonies and not become dissatisfied. He went into the details of the scheme, describing how in the Old Country patients were put into a group or colony, provided with shelter of a healthy nature and provided with occupations such as sick men engaged in.

Ladysmith News

Ladysmith, June 23.—The committee in charge of the July 1 picnic which will be held at Shell Beach under the auspices of the Ladysmith Extension Colliery Band reports great progress in the matter of arrangements for this outing. Sports of all kinds, both land and water, will be enjoyed, and in the evening the holiday will finish up with a monster dance at the Agricultural Hall, Herbyvilleaux Orchestra supplying the music. The proceeds from the celebration will go towards paying the band's expenses to Vancouver to compete with other amateur bands in British Columbia at the exhibition being held there this summer.

T. Collinge, editor of The Ladysmith Chronicle, is up the West Coast for a few days.

Miss Marjorie Gilroy, who has been attending school in Winnipeg, is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gilroy, Bellevue.

Ladysmith had a better run of luck this week-end in the matter of sport, winning their football game in Vancouver against the Davenporters of Nanaimo by a score of 4 to 2. This is the third time these two teams have met to settle the argument as to who shall meet St. Andrews in the semi-final of the week-end. The first game was played on account of Ladysmith playing an ineligible player, the second game was called off in Nanaimo when the referee lost control of the game. In baseball Ladysmith won their first game of the season by defeating Aikens 6 to 1.

THE HAT CREEK FIND

IT TAKES SOME COURAGE to prophesy that the Pacific Great Eastern Railway system will probably be paying its way in five years from now. The people of this Province have become so accustomed to regard the line as the fly in the ointment of British Columbia's prosperity that the prospect of its removal to a more comfortable position has almost vanished. But the probability of a very important development taking place at a point fifteen miles from the track has put a different complexion on the future of this piece of provincial property. On the recently-discovered coal deposits at Hat Creek this cheerful outlook is based.

Although it may be some little time before the authorities at the Parliament Buildings are in a position to make a definite announcement of the amount of coal in sight at Hat Creek, the Minister of Railways himself was a spectator of diamond drilling operations that revealed a seam which extended to a depth of nearly three hundred feet. A mining engineer who has been on the spot since then has informed the public in a newspaper article that further drilling operations show that there is a continuous depth of clear fuel for 523 feet. Other investigators into the prospects of the same field estimate the wealth of the seams to be at least 900,000,000 tons. If these estimates may be taken as reliable, and there seems to be sufficient evidence upon which to base them, it means that at Hat Creek, within fifteen miles of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway system, there is sufficient coal to furnish the line with enough business to make it pay in the early future.

Very naturally the quality of the coal will determine the demand and the demand will determine the speed at which the company's system will emerge from under its present burden into a profitable condition. In any case, however, scientific technical information is now in the hands of the Government to convince it that the Hat Creek discovery is a fortunate find that will improve the appearance of the provincial balance sheet during the next few years. Meanwhile, as the people of the Province, tourists and men of business, get to know something of the line by personal contact its "white elephant" days should be numbered. It should not be forgotten, incidentally, that it runs through some of the most magnificent scenery in the world.

SATURDAY'S VISITORS

NEXT SATURDAY VICTORIA will be host to a large number of delegates who will come here after attending the business sessions of the National Foreign Trade Council of the United States which begin to-morrow at Seattle. It is probably not too much to say that never has such a representation of industrial capital assembled on this Coast for an exchange of commercial views. We have only to note a few of the names of members of the Council to realize the force of this statement. Such men as James A. Farrell, President of the United States Steel Corporation, H. F. Alexander of the Pacific Steamship Company, A. C. Bedford of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Robert Dollar of the Robert Dollar Company, Cyrus H. McCormick of the International Harvester Company, John D. Ryan of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, W. H. Woodin of the American Car and Foundry Company, and J. D. Mooney of General Motors Export Company, will partake of Victoria's hospitality, some of them for the first time, others to renew old acquaintances. The party in its entirety is made up of captains of industry and capital whose names are known in all the financial circles of both Old and New Worlds. It is therefore to Victoria's advantage that everything possible should be done to make the brief stay of these distinguished visitors as agreeable as possible.

MORE EVIDENCE

WHATEVER MAY BE the fate of the Dominion Government's ship subsidy proposal, in spite of all that has been said in opposition to Parliament's efforts to reduce Atlantic rates, evidence of the cause and effect of excessive charges continues to pile up from expert sources. The British representative to the Institute of Pacific Relations meeting in Honolulu now makes the statement that the world's carrying trade had decreased twenty-three per cent. as compared with 1913, while shipping tonnage had increased by the enormous amount of ten millions of tons. He also declared that if world trade could return to the point at which it stood before the war, there would be enough work for the world's tonnage. Meanwhile, however, twelve million tons of shipping is tied up and some owners are breaking up their ships.

These statements agree in substance with the opinions Sir Alfred Yarrow gave when he was on this Coast a short time ago. Other shipping magnates have similarly explained the position in which the shipping world finds itself to-day. In fact leading officials of the Anchor-Donaldson line have said in as many words that unless more cargo and passenger business offers soon, their own and other liner companies will have to consider a complete reorganization of sailing schedules.

The lay mind would concur in such a change in policy which would permit companies to cater for the traffic available at present rates with equipment sufficient for its needs instead of with equipment suitable for double the amount. This method would surely be another way to lower rates, and lower rates would give freight and passenger business the impetus necessary to world trade revival and development.

ONLY POSTPONED

LAST SATURDAY'S vote in Vancouver City and South Vancouver to decide whether the two municipalities should join their civic fortunes and march into the future as one political entity resulted in the defeat of the plan in the larger centre by 109 votes and carried in the smaller one by a majority of 2,635 in a total poll of 3,451.

There were naturally many considerations to be borne in mind by the taxpayers in Vancouver City, not the least of which was an apparent lack of understanding in respect of the extent of the obligation which might fall upon their shoulders under the operation of the scheme. Into these phases it is not necessary for us to delve. The point of interest to Victoria, and more especially to those who are still quietly working upon the Greater Victoria scheme, is that if not just now, sometime in the near future, Vancouver will not be contemplating the amalgamation of the city proper with one of its near neighbors, but amalgamation of all the seven civic elements which now compose, in fact if not in civic form, Greater Vancouver. On this point the comments of The Daily Province are worth noting for their bearing upon the future:

On the south shore of Burrard Inlet are the cities of Vancouver and the three municipalities of Point Grey, South Vancouver and Burnaby. On the north shore are the cities of North Vancouver and the municipalities of North and West Vancouver. All form a single community, with a thousand business, community and social interests threatening through them and binding them together. Yet, in working out answers to problems that concern all seven, they find it very difficult to act as a single entity while it seems natural and easy to pull in from two to seven different directions. As a result, we lack the civic spirit, the enthusiasm and the self-confidence which unity would give. We are a seven-cylinder engine, but our seven cylinders are not timed to act together, and some exert their power one way on the crankshaft and some the other. We have the power, but we are wasting it. We need a mechanic who will align us properly and set us working as a unit.

It can now be expected that Vancouver's next experiment with amalgamation will be conducted on the seven-cylinder basis and when that has been successfully accomplished she will be able to advertise a population of more than 300,000. This is the point for Victoria to remember.

BE EXTRA CAREFUL

FROM THE FOREST branch of the provincial Department of Lands has gone out the intimation to the people of this Province that the timbered areas, and adjacent districts are once again as dry as tinder and as inflammable as Nature can make them. While there has been no oppressive heat on Vancouver Island, and nothing like yesterday's ninety-six in the shade at various points in the Interior, the long spell of dry weather has parched the countryside to such an extent that just a lighted match thrown away carelessly might easily result in a conflagration that would destroy millions of dollars' worth of valuable property. All the Department asks of the general public, therefore, is the exercise of the same care with fire in any form out-of-doors as is exercised in the home. If that general principle shall be followed, the destruction of the people's property by fire will be kept down to a minimum.

ON

HERE are some don'ts that may be useful.
 Don't grumble, gossip or argue.
 Don't offend unnecessarily, don't contend and don't brag.
 Don't insinuate, reiterate or exaggerate.
 Don't depreciate, calumniate or revile.
 Don't ridicule, disparage or coerce.
 Don't haggle, wrangle or use unnecessary words.
 Don't misjudge, slander or embarrass.
 Don't dissimble, vilify or assail.
 Here are some things that Greenville Kleiser says to do.
 It is good to praise, to enjoy, to confirm, to approve and to appreciate. We should also serve, reverence, commend, agree and admire.
 Every man should strive to please others as much as possible, to encourage, to sympathize and reciprocate. He should learn to yield, to accede, to help and to accommodate.
 It pays to esteem, to give, to honor and to stimulate; also to respect, to befriend, gladden and accommodate.
 To these may be added to uplift, compliment, strengthen, comfort and inspire.
 These are the sort of things that, if we learn to do them, will be to our profit and also may be compared to a garden. There are certain weeds that we should cast out. They are such as pride, envy, impatience, fear, resentment, selfishness.
 There are also certain plants that we must carefully cultivate. These are kindness, goodness, love, humility, reverence and righteousness.
 Only by close attention to the mind's garden and by careful tilling we shall have fruit and fragrance in our lives.

THE GOLD STANDARD

To the Editor:—In The Times of Saturday Frank Crane has an article dealing with the gold standard, which betrays a lamentable ignorance of the subject and an equally lamentable lack of common sense. The chief point in favor of gold as a currency standard is that it is, as he says, "honest." And then he follows up with this choice gem: "That is, there is enough in the bank to pay for all its obligations, if they do not all come at the same time." There is a reasonable amount of gold kept in reserve.

The solvent of a banking system based on a gold standard currency is dependent upon its ability to pay all its obligations to the public on demand, in gold. Can even the banking system of America do this? As Dr. Crane admits, only "if they do not all come at the same time." An honest system, surely. Although the United States owns more than half the gold in the world, it is doubtful if it have not got the figures by me (the moment) whether its banks could meet one-fifth of their liabilities in gold. In Canada the proportion of gold in the neighborhood of fifty per cent. While in Britain they have recently passed a Bill making it virtually impossible for the public to get gold, while at the same time having nominally reverted to the gold standard.

What a farce! What honesty this! Your contributor says: "As a matter of fact a country reverts to the gold standard simply because it prefers honest and straightforward means of doing business, and is not bitten by the 'snake' of inflation." I feel sure that if Dr. Crane had really given the subject a little of the thought it deserves, he would never have written such nonsense. He infers that under the gold standard there can be no such thing as inflation. Does he know what is meant by the "snake" of inflation? I feel sure that if he will take the trouble to study the changes in the price-level in his own country since, say, 1896 to 1925, he will find that America has consistently adhered to the gold standard, I feel sure he would never repeat such a statement. From 1896 to 1925 the price level in the United States has risen thirty per cent. Despite the fact that production had been considerably cheapened through labor-saving inventions and improvements of processes. From 1913 to 1920 prices rose 128 per cent and this with a gold standard in force. This is not inflation, surely, but it is inflation. What of honesty here?

In Sweden, a country which of its adherence to the gold standard longer than any other European country, inflation caused prices to rise 247 per cent. This is not inflation, surely, but it is inflation. This country had to put an embargo on the import of gold. Since 1920, changes in the value of money in Sweden have been spectacular. In a little over a year prices fell about thirty-three per cent, while since 1921, although the price level has risen, it is not a steady upward trend (inflation), it has fluctuated considerably. As Mr. McKenna showed, England, with her paper currency, has had a greater stability than America with gold. No, Dr. Crane, honesty and the gold standard are not twin virtues. To pretend that you can pay all your liabilities on demand in gold—and so secure public confidence—when you know quite well that you cannot do so, is to delude the public by money possesses an unchanging value based on its quality, is a little better than a confidence trick.

The statement is also made that "business thieves in those countries have adopted the gold standard." Britain recently decided to return to gold and what has been the immediate result? To respect to business and employment? To make business, which had been slowly picking up, worse than it has been since the early part of 1922 and to add to the figures of unemployment a vast increase. And what is more, this will continue for some time to come. Soon after Churchill made his now famous statement in the House of Commons that the Bank of England had decided to raise the bank rate to five per cent, the present inflationary point to a further rise in the near future. This, of course, means, considering that the bulk of business is done on bank credit, further stagnation.

Since Austria, under the League of Nations, stabilized her currency in reference to gold, she has been in a sorry plight. With the banks charging from fifteen to forty per cent, for loans, export business has been curtailed, as manufacturers have been unable to carry on, and borrowings are chiefly for speculation. Unemployment is very severe and suicides more frequent than in any other country. Your contributor says that: "The departure from the gold standard in Germany and Austria has ruined millions." That is not true. Those ruined had Austria and Germany returned to the gold standard, prices rose to nearly three and a half times those of 1913 with a consequent loss of purchasing power to those with fixed incomes, and a corresponding shrinkage of the capital value of securities with a fixed interest. Without doubt, the return to gold would have ruined millions in America the same thing happened to a slightly lesser extent. As an apostle of the gold standard, Dr. Crane will have done a man service for those who control the affairs of his country, for it will be the thrifty that shall regulate the stream of credit without which no highly organized community can function.

HEALTH & DISEASE
Dropping of Internal Organs

When the contents of the abdomen including the stomach, liver, spleen, small and large bowel, sag, drop or fall to a lower level in the abdomen than normal, this is spoken of as "Dropping of the Viscera," or "Visceral ptosis." In some cases it follows repeated pregnancies and dropsy, and in other cases it occurs in young people who are suffering from certain nervous affections. The abdominal wall is relaxed, any movement of the intestines may be seen and often the shape of the stomach may be changed out through the abdominal wall. The stomach may be a hand-breadth below the naval. Often the patient is very nervous and it occurs more frequently in women than men, especially those who are thin.

This condition may follow a severe illness with much wasting, usually these people complain of dyspepsia, throbbing in the abdomen, dragging in the back and an inability to carry on their daily work. On X-ray examination the stomach is below the naval. The contents of the stomach may be retained when the abdomen is massaged. Drooping of the stomach, which is one of the most common conditions, but here a distinction is made between a dropping of the kidney and a floating kidney. With a sagging of the intestines and stomach there is sometimes a kinking of the intestinal tract with a resulting constipation. Very often people have a great amount of visceropitosis, with little or no trouble until they are told so, and then they worry and ascribe all their trouble to this condition. This condition is not serious and the symptoms, which are sometimes annoying, can usually be relieved by appropriate treatment.

PRINCES AND PAUPERS IN GERMANY AS SEEN BY WORLD FAMOUS WAR CORRESPONDENT

TIDES OF PASSION EBBING

Now that the mark has been stabilized, at first by a sort of miracle—on, as other people would say, by an act of faith in German credit by German folk—and then by international loans following the Dawes Report, the social conditions in Germany have also become settled. Trade is reviving steadily because traders know what prices they can quote and what they can pay in real money which does not fluctuate like a fever chart. The pulse of German life itself is steadying to a more normal beat because there is no longer fear of revolution from the right, or left now that panic, rage, and despair have given way to a reasonable hope of good business, based on the possibility of peace and industry. After the release of the French strangle grip on the Rhur, which is the industrial heart of Germany, trade relations are good with France and Great Britain, and even the question of reparations and the burden of impossible payments have been postponed by the mechanism of the Dawes plan.

The extreme Nationalists who shouted for resistance and revenge no longer get the same hearing. The Communists, who dreamed of bloody revolution as the only means of liberating the German workers from an intolerable serfdom have been silenced for a time, because despair has lifted from the wage-earning world. At least, it is not so acute. The tide of passion is on the ebb. German public opinion, in the mass, as revealed by the elections in December last, is for moderate men and moderate measures. Violence is, for the moment, out of favor.

All that is good for Germany and the world. But social life among the German people has been greatly changed by that experience in the time of paper money, and by the present readjustment to stable conditions. New classes have come up—those who made rapid profits out of wild gambles in the foreign exchange. Old classes have gone down, or been hard hit. Behind the facade of life is a rather splendid and rich as it seems to the passing foreigner—there are glaring contrasts.

Extremes of wealth, extremes of poverty, may be seen in Berlin and all the great cities of Germany. Beneath the surface of everyday life, quite comfortable as it seems, with money enough now for good food, life's little comforts, and luxuries, there is a great deal of stinging and scraping to make both ends meet. And in the mind of Germany also, if one penetrates below the surface—which is as far as most foreigners see—there are equal contrasts of opinion, philosophy, and idealism. Prejudice, old ideas in conflict with new ideas, and mental unrest.

Here is a picture of one extreme in the social scale. It is the one observed by the passing foreigner who, seeing it, thinks that the German plea of poverty is a fraud and that they are rich enough to pay all the reparations from which they have defaulted.

PROFITEERS AND DIAMONDS

It is a scene in the Adlon Hotel, of Berlin, as seen recently, and as it goes day by day.

The great lounge with its marble pillars inlaid with gold mosaic, lighted warmly by shaded lamps, is crowded with the profiteers or Schlebers of Berlin. A bust of the one-time German Emperor, who turned his back to the world when he fled, looks at this republican tea party. Revolution and republicanism did nothing to injure these people. Even "inflation" did not damage them. Somehow they learned the secret of converting worthless paper into real wealth.

The women are expensively dressed. They must cost a lot of money to the men who bow over their hands, and order rich cakes for them. These men are, for the most part, middle-aged, with close-shaven heads, hard features, and culture-like eyes. Earlier in the day they have been sitting around

MRS. B. H. HART SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cornwall, Ont.—"I am now giving your medicine a fair trial and it surely is doing me good and I am going to keep on taking it. I feel so tired in the morning that I didn't want to get up, but that feeling is leaving me now. I also sleep better and feel more like working. For seven or eight years I have had headaches, tired feelings, pains in my back and across my body. I read letters in the newspapers saying what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done others. My husband says I quit too soon, but I am not going to stop taking the Vegetable Compound until Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine until I am better and haven't an ache or a pain. Isn't that the right way? I have great faith in your medicines. They must be good when those who take them speak so highly of them. I am recommending them to my friends and I will gladly answer letters from women asking about them."—Mrs. B. H. Hart, Box 1081, Cornwall, Ont.

Mrs. Hart is willing to answer letters from sick women asking about the Vegetable Compound.

here in the Adlon, or other hotels, with black dispatch cases, talking money, money, money. One ever hears arithmetical discussions in thousands, and millions, of marks. Some of them, many of them perhaps, are not German by race. They have an Oriental cast of features, or a Slav look. One man wears some of his wealth on his fingers. He is a powerful, handsome man leaning over a little painted lady who whispers to him and gazes at his left hand like a bird fascinated by a serpent's eyes. The man's fingers glitter with points of light. There are seven rings on three fingers, with large lustrous diamonds.

Down the winding passage between the crowded tea-tables comes a line of mannequins, each girl moving in a rhythmic way, with extended arms. They are wearing furs, marvelous and magnificent furs, brought from Russia, I suppose, and something like their weight in gold. In a little room beyond the tea-lounge, up a flight of stairs, good business is being done. "You must buy me a coat like that," says the little painted lady to the man with the diamond rings. He fingers one of the fur coats, smiling at the girl inside it. "How much?" In American money it is five hundred dollars.

In the Adlon Hotel life is very costly, and it is crowded by people who are not frightened by its cost. Here are wealth, luxury, beauty, splendor. The English do not stay at the Adlon now. The prices have scared them away.

WHERE MISERY STALKS

That is one end of life in Berlin. Here is another. It is at the north end of the city, in the poor quarters, where there is an immense block of buildings of solid stone, with many windows, like a hospital. It is called the "Nacht Asyl," or Night Asylum, supported by the city of Berlin for homeless and workless people. I went there at six o'clock one evening and the building had already been filled for an hour by a population of nearly four thousand men, women and some children. They go in at five o'clock and after getting a bowl of soup are locked up in the dormitories until six next morning, when they are turned into the streets again to find work if they can—which they can't.

I stood at the door of these dormitories with the director of the Nacht Asyl, who was a man with a good brain and a big heart. Each of these long, bare rooms was lined with rows of iron beds, without mattresses or blankets. No need of blankets because of central heating. The rooms were over-warm—suffocating. The smell of human bodies and of damp, steaming clothes, made an atmosphere which struck me in the face and turned me sick. Not a window open to let out the foul vapors. The men lay on their beds, some talking in groups. As I stood in the doorway they stared at me, wondering what I wanted. Many of them were young men—boys—with good faces and thoughtful eyes; just the type of lad I had seen in thousands in the trenches, in the mud, in the time of war. Others were bearded men, emaciated, haggard, hollow-eyed.

"Who are they?" I asked the director. "From what class do they come?"

He told me outside the door, which he locked again. "They belonged to every class—university students, old professors, doctors, lawyers, clerks, mechanics, laborers, poets, artists, thieves and aristocrats. Aristocrats? Yes, now and then. Some time ago there had been a 'Fraser,' whom we should call a nobleman. He was also a thief, and beyond help. Others were honest—caught between the wheels of life. Out of work through no fault of their own. Just unlucky in a cruel world. The young lads were most to be pitied. The director told me that he had seen them in the streets, in the mud, in the time of war. Others were bearded men, emaciated, haggard, hollow-eyed.

I went to room after room, each with two or three hundred bed-fellows, each stifling in that dank, foul warmth, each crowded with misery, disease, despair. In one long room were family groups, men, women and children sleeping together. They were Poles who in Summer time work in the fields. In other rooms were the women—poor old hags, combining their hair, young girls derelict in a great city. They were full of babies born into tragic life out of tragedy.

I did not see the worst rooms of all, where disease-stricken girls taken off the streets weep and tear their clothes and cry out in hysteria. It is well organized, this Nacht Asyl. The kitchens are splendid, and I tasted the soup which is given as an evening meal to all who come. Like gruel, and quite good, but not very satisfying to hungry stomachs, without bread. There are baths for those who wish to wash, and furnaces for verminous clothes—as must of them are and to a terrible and shocking degree.

Into this shelter for homeless folk comes every night a population of poor wretches who have nothing to eat and no bed but a bowl of soup and this house of pity. It is the other end from Adlon Hotel.

ORPHANS OF THE STORM

Between these two extremes is the average of German life, through many grades of hard-working poverty, decent respectability, comfortable home life, fair prosperity, without much margin for luxury, often without quite enough for proper nourishment. The working classes in Berlin and other great cities are enormously better off now than in the time of inflation. At least they are paid real money which does not lose its value before they turn it into food and clothes. But they are not high wages. I reckon they are a little more than half the wage value paid to English laborers of the same class. An unskilled laborer gets about five marks a day. So did the elevator boy in my hotel. My mid-day meal in a second-class restaurant cost me 1.50 marks—for soup, meat, cheese and coffee. On five marks a day I should have starved to death in Germany. Somehow the German laborer lives on it, but it is his secret, and he doesn't get fat.

LABOR CONGRESS IS SET FOR AUGUST

T. Moore Issues Call For Annual Meeting of Dominion-wide Organization

Ottawa, June 22.—Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, has issued the forty-first annual convention call. The convention this year will be held in Ottawa, starting on Monday, August 31.

"Labor," say the call, "is the most important factor in our national life and the work of building up and strengthening our movement and widening the sphere of its influence must be vigorously continued and its voice constantly heard."

NUMBER OF QUESTIONS
"The eight-hour day, old age pensions, unemployment, immigration and other matters of national and international importance still demand active consideration and the necessity of meeting in annual convention to secure unity of action and purpose and to determine future policies cannot be over-emphasized."

"Long continued trade depression has undoubtedly caused many organizations to be faced with innumerable difficulties. These, however, should not be a reason for not being represented at the forthcoming convention, but the knowledge they exist should rather be the incentive necessary to greater effort to make the forthcoming convention fully representative of the entire movement from coast to coast."

In Berlin and other big cities there is a heavy time for working families. They crowd into cellars, damp and without light. You can look into them through the gratings below Fruchstrasse and Blumenstrasse, on the east side of Berlin. It's not good for the children, who get tuberculosis like many little sufferers I saw in an open-air school, where even in winter time they learn their lessons with the cold mist about them, and get doped with ultra-violet rays between their classes.

The out-of-work dole in Germany is not generous and it lasts only for twenty-six weeks of the year. I met two young brothers whose father had been killed in the war and whose mother had died. The elder brother was still wearing his old green tunic of war-time—six years after the Armistice. He had been out of work for five months, and was getting 6.30 marks a week. He looked like it. The younger brother was getting 6 marks a week as an orphan. Their faces had a putty look and there were red rims round their eyes. They were "Orphans of the Storm" of Germany to-day.

The German workmen, especially in the factories, complain bitterly of the long hours they have to work for wages not sufficient to maintain their physical strength. In the Ruhr many of them are working eleven or twelve hours a day and some as long as fourteen hours a day. In Dortmund the furnace workers are employed for twelve hours in exhausting conditions. I heard of one case in Berlin where a man had to work nine hours a day for a wage of 15 marks a week and, going to the only lodging-house he could find, had to spend two hours in a tram car in order to get to his job. Then two hours back again.

There is a rapid increase of child employment in the factories and mines, in order to supplement the wages of the parents. The Civil Service is miserably underpaid. Here is a family budget I obtained from a German family. It reveals more than many words, the actual state of affairs in thousands, perhaps millions of German households. It is the budget of a small Government official with his wife, two boys and a mother-in-law who lost all her savings in the inflation period. The monthly salary of the head of the family is 345 marks. This is how his expenses work out:

Physician and dentist	6
Contribution for professional organization	2
Clothing for father (no allowance)	15
Clothing for mother (no allowance)	11
Clothing for boys	11
For back payments	2
Tickets	15
Light and gas	12
Pleasure	3
Rent	54
Postage	5
Insurance	12
Taxes	30
Pocket money	8
Household (food, etc.)	172
Books	3
Miscellaneous	14
Total	405

It will be seen that there is a deficit of fifty-seven marks. This must be made up by odd jobs from various sources. The whole of the family, such as needlework by the two women and occasional errands by the boys.

It is from the sons of this class of small official, civil service clerk, doctor, lawyer, and literary man, that the universities, and especially Berlin University, receive most of their students. After the family budget I have given as a typical example, it will be easily seen that in Germany to-day many students—the majority—do not receive luxurious allowances from their parents. On the contrary, they receive meagre, rather poverty-stricken, and some of them would starve were it not for a good deal of help they receive from well-to-do people who have established cheap feeding centres.

It must be counted upon the late Hugo Stinnesse, a large family, such as he may need it, that he subsidized a system of free meals for needy students in his group of hotels, including the magnificent Esplanade, in Berlin. In many cases, however, it is seen that the pride of the students makes them hesitate to line up for this cheap food which, after all, is a humiliating form of charity to young men of good birth and sensitive feelings.

Erecting Monument In Hannibal, Mo.

Hannibal, Mo., June 22.—At the base of Camp Hill, where fought Tom Sawyer, Huck Finn and Tom's gang, will rise a monument to the immortal Tom and Huck, figures in the books of Mark Twain that bear their names.

Frederick C. Hibbard, Chicago sculptor, is at work upon the memorial, which will be erected by George A. Mahan, a local attorney, and his wife and son, Oulany Mahan. In the monument the sculptor hopes to set forth those qualities that have appealed to multitudes who have read and understood the humor and pathos of American youth exemplified in the boy characters.

The sculptor will represent Tom Sawyer as about to leave the haunts of his childhood to take up the serious business of a man's life. He is bidding Huck Finn farewell. The monument will be of bronze on a pedestal of red Missouri granite. It is expected to be completed by October of this year. It will be on Hill Street, approximately one block from Mark Twain's boyhood home, which also was purchased and presented to Hannibal by Mr. and Mrs. Mahan. It will stand only a few feet from the former site of the old stone wall where Muff Potter of Tom Sawyer was confined. The Mahans recently purchased the site to eliminate a dangerous traffic corner.

Looking from the monument about two blocks down Main Street one may see the building in which Mark Twain started his career as a printer's devil.

One of the usual four for bridge had failed to turn up and a friend from next door was persuaded to fill the gap.

"She had slight knowledge of the game, and before long played the king unnecessarily on her opponent's ace."

"But, partner," exclaimed the host, "a king cannot beat an ace!"

"I know that," was the reply, "but I thought I'd let it have a try!"

JAPANESE LINES REFUSE TO TRANSPORT FREIGHT TO SHANGHAI THROUGH STRIKE

Indications of Total Trade Suspension Between Japanese Ports and Chinese Storm-centre While Unsettled Conditions Prevail.

Japanese shipowners are alarmed over the prospect of total suspension of Japan's trade with China through the strike-ridden port of Shanghai, according to word brought by the liner President Madison.

Various Japanese shipping companies have announced that the transportation of all cargo consigned from Japanese ports to Shanghai would be suspended during the unsettled conditions prevailing at Shanghai.

Under the latest developments Japan's trade with Central China will suffer greatly. The balance of trade has lately been favorable to Japan, the surplus exports during the first four months of the year reaching a monthly average of about $5,000,000.

A total suspension of Japan's trade to China through Shanghai is expected to materialize unless there is a change in the strike situation, and the Japanese shipowners face heavy losses in the event that cargo accepted for transportation is unable to be delivered. The Nippon Yusen Kaisha and the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, the two leading shipping firms of Japan, have instructed their ship commanders not to call at Shanghai if danger threatens. The steamers Nagasaki Maru, Aso Maru, Kumano Maru, Ohmi Maru, Haruna Maru, Saito Maru and Paris Maru were affected by the general order to Japanese shipmasters. The Nippon Yusen Kaisha, at the same time that the company ordered suspension of all trade with Shanghai, announced that in future it would insert a clause in bills of lading for all cargo consigned to Shanghai to the effect that the shipping company may unload cargo to be forwarded to China at a port in the neighborhood of Shanghai if the strike there rendered it impossible to unload at that port. The freight may be returned to the port of loading.

Decision in such cases will be left to the captain of the vessel or to the agent of the company. This arrangement would become effective on the understanding that the shipping company took no responsibility for loss resulting from the change in point of destination or the return of the cargo in cases of no delivery. Vessels flying the flag of European countries have not been seriously interfered with since the commencement of the strike at Shanghai.

The last Canadian ship there, which has returned to this coast, was the Empress of Russia, Capt. A. J. Holland, her commander, stated that no trouble was experienced while the ship was lying off Shanghai.

During the past year the vessels that have passed through the port of Shanghai have aggregated 30,000,000 tons, an indication of thriving business. Of this total vessels flying the British flag predominated with a total of 10,620,000 tons; Japanese vessels came next with 7,700,000 tons; American vessels with 3,440,000 tons; Chinese vessels, 3,350,000 tons; French vessels, 3,000,000 tons; Dutch vessels, 2,000,000 tons; German vessels, 1,500,000 tons, and Italian vessels, 100,000 tons.

COAL SHIPMENT RATE IS DISCUSSED

Ottawa, June 23.—Sir Henry Drayton, Conservative, West York, in the House of Commons yesterday, inquired as to the accuracy of reports in respect to the moving of Alberta coal to Ontario. Sir Henry Thornton, it was said, was not going on with the experiment in regard to a lower rate, owing to the fact that this would be looked upon as affecting the whole rate schedule.

"I have no intimation of this matter except the news item that has appeared in the papers," replied Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals. "I did receive information indirectly some days ago that the railway was accepting coal at 37 provided the losses will be guaranteed by the other parties to the arrangement. However, I can inquire into the matter."

Decision in such cases will be left to the captain of the vessel or to the agent of the company. This arrangement would become effective on the understanding that the shipping company took no responsibility for loss resulting from the change in point of destination or the return of the cargo in cases of no delivery.

American Children Have First Sight of Land of Nativty

Thirty American children, born and raised in the Orient where their parents were engaged in business or mission fields formed a happy group arriving on the S.S. Prince Rupert.

The children, who were accompanied by their parents, were on the ship when it was launched in Seattle, where they will have the first glimpse of a July 4 celebration.

The homing band were the life and soul of the party on the voyage over and though they shake their heads at the growing list of scrapes, near accidents and multitudinous vagaries of the stewards on the Madison were sorry to see the party leave the ship.

"They were good babies during the voyage and we are sorry to see them go," was the way one stewardess put it.

SS ADELAIDE WILL CARRY EXCURSION PARTY ON JULY 4

Special Programme Arranged at San Juan Marking End of International Regatta

Arrangements have now been completed by the B.C. Coast Steamship Service for a special excursion to San Juan Island, on July 4.

The S.S. Adelaide, with a capacity for 1,000 holiday makers, will clear from Victoria at 9 a.m. on July 4 and will follow the entrants in the last race of the international regatta closing on that date.

The last race will be run from Victoria to Roche Harbor, where the final stake boat will be placed and trippers on the Adelaide will be in for the finish of the closing race of the season.

An excellent programme of entertainment has been prepared at Roche Harbor, where a special naval display by American warships is planned, followed by banquets and speeches by state officials. It is expected members of the Provincial Government will be represented on the trip.

As Roche Harbor is the site of the national holiday of the United States as well as the close of the international regatta, a great programme of events will be prepared for the dual event. Tickets are now on sale at the C.P.R. offices and those intending to take the trip are advised to make early application for their bookings.

Representatives of all shipping companies engaged in the Oriental trade across the Pacific continued their sessions here to-day under H. G. Weir, general chairman, to solve the rate and schedule problem of the ocean-carried freight business.

Members of the conference said they were so determined to put through decisions and come to some agreement that they would sit through the day without adjournment, even for lunch. This threat was made good, to-day they continued their deliberations all through the lunch hour and all afternoon without break in one of the conference rooms at the Empress.

Representatives of the conference from every ocean shipping port from San Francisco to Vancouver.

CANADIAN MARINE INSURANCE REPORT NOW COMPLETED

Will be Published Simultaneously in Britain and Canada

Ottawa, June 23.—The Imperial Shipping Committee has completed a unanimous report on Canadian marine insurance which will be published simultaneously in Canada and Great Britain early in July, according to the Premier.

The question was referred to the committee by the Canadian Government a year ago as a preliminary step. It was announced last Summer that the committee had persuaded the underwriters to remove Halifax from the warzone which caused a differential charge for the insurance of shipping entering British North American ports.

The Premier said it was impossible to summarize briefly the evidence, but the conclusions at which the committee had arrived were that there was a presumption in favor of the greatest difference on the St. Lawrence, but that the evidence was in one respect incomplete, and moreover the directions wireless might alter the statistical position. The committee suggested that having regard to all the circumstances the Joint Committee should reconsider the position of St. John, N.B., and Prince Rupert, B.C.

W. E. Harper of Observatory Outlines Progress of Astronomy

W. E. Harper, assistant director of the Canadian Observatory, addressed the Kiwanis Club at to-day's luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce, giving an outline of modern knowledge of the stars. Astronomy is the basis of time calculation and measurement of distance. Mr. Harper pointed out, and the science comes into every day service, to that extent combating objections of being "unpractical science."

"It is a pity that in our search for the beautiful in life, we should overlook the beauties of the heavens," he said in reference to the stars visible to the unaided eye.

Less than 6,000 stars are visible to the naked eye, less than half being within view from any one point. With photographic telescopes astronomers have found no less than 2,000,000 stars to exist, Mr. Harper said.

Methods of measurement used by astronomers were outlined, the mile being outlaid by distance, a new unit of the light year has been evolved with the nearest star distant 4½ light years.

The long diameter of the universe as at present known, is estimated to be 300,000 light years, with a breadth of one-tenth that distance, the solar system being about the centre.

Great knowledge has been accumulated as to temperatures existing in the stars, these being so high as to be entirely beyond any attainable in a physical laboratory.

The use of the spectroscopic has enabled astronomers to tell the composition of the stars, the hottest and lightest colored being simple elements, the darker colored presenting evidence of all the elements existing in the earth.

The speed of movement of the stars is well known, and although vast, the distances concerned are so great as to make little visible relative change in position among the stars. Calculations have shown that the solar system is moving through space at a rate of twelve miles per second, and such great clusters have been located as to show the comparative insignificance of the system of which the earth is a part.

Discovery of helium gas was entirely due to astronomical observations. Mr. Harper pointed out, and was to prove a vital factor in the future aerial transportation problems of the world.

Mrs. M. Knight rendered two solos and B. C. Nicholas enlisted the assistance of the members in entertaining the delegates to the National Foreign Trade Council, which will visit Victoria on Saturday afternoon.

Plans Under Way For Erection of Burns Cottage Here

Victoria will shortly have what may be described as a new departure in memorials. It is planned by a number of enthusiastic Scots aided by all admirers of Scotland's two outstanding national literary divinities—Burns and Scott—to erect emblematic buildings which will serve the memory of those men and encourage their visitors.

Some memories of old Scotland in an interesting form. It is proposed, through the formation of a company, to build in the first place a reproduction of the little straw-thatched cottage in which Robert Burns was born at Alloway, in Ayrshire. This will be as far as possible duplicated as to the exterior, the interior showing the setting much as in the original, with the fireplace for the burning of the pipes and the fittings peculiar to the period of Burns. In addition there will be seen a handloom and the old spinning wheel at which the women of the clan were wont to work, and the method of making the woolen clothing worn in those days.

Information has been gathered from the past and present of the interesting relics peculiarly connected with Burns and Sir Walter Scott will be on view.

The plan is to erect a suitable central site on which to erect the building.

Mr. J. Brown, Hattie Cochrane, P. J. Simard and others are active in arranging all details of the project.

DR. WILLING LEADS IN GOLF CONTEST

Tacoma, June 23.—Dr. O. F. Willing, amateur champion of the Portland Waverly Club, started on Sunday morning in the first eighteen holes of the thirty-six-hole play of the first round of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association amateur event at the Tacoma Country Club by defeating his opponent, Walter Fovargue of Aberdeen, one up.

The champion, however, was forced to play to his utmost to lower the colors of his rival, who, although starting out rather poorly, picked up his game in the second nine and came galloping in a dangerous manner. Play was close and exciting.

Other matches reported at noon showed them to be somewhat one-sided.

Frank Dolph of Portland came in five up on H. G. Thompson of Vancouver.

Hugo Haakons, three up on F. F. Jackson.

Forest Watson, Spokane, three up on A. A. Weir of Saskatoon.

Bon Stein, Seattle, seven up on L. Klau.

George Fowler, Aberdeen, nine up on W. F. Kettnerbach, Lewiston, Idaho.

F. C. Thompson, Vancouver, three up on F. W. Cornell, Vancouver.

Roy Moe by default over Russell Smith, both of Seattle.

WOMEN'S CONTEST
In the qualifying round of the women's championship this morning over the Country Club course, Mrs. H. G. Hutchings of Winnipeg, a former Northwest champion, came through with a beautiful thirty-nine for the first nine holes. Eighteen holes are being played, all from the ladies' tees.

Lee Steel, Seattle, and A. Kyle, Portland, came in even. Dixie Fletcher, Seattle, was two up on M. E. Nugell, Rochester, N.Y. Al Buhr and Billy Yost, Tacoma, came in one

Before Chief Justice Hunter announced his decision, Mr. Scapler dealt with evidence which W. D. Carter, K.C., Deputy Attorney-General, had contended, when the matter was previously argued, a week ago, that the Province had no jurisdiction over the case.

Mr. Carter said little in reply, other than to reiterate the crown's view that a case had been made out for trial.

"I allowed the fullest discussion," said Chief Justice Hunter, whose words were taken down by a shorthand reporter, "but I have concluded that I cannot interfere with the decision of the magistrate."

AT THE THEATRES

COMEDY AT ITS BEST IN "PATHS TO PARADISE"

"Paths to Paradise," a new Paramount picture, which opened at the Dominion Theatre last night, is fast farce comedy at its best. The film features Betty Compson and Raymond Griffith and was directed by Clarence Badger.

The story concerns itself with Griffith, a four-flusher de luxe, and Betty, a clever girl, crook. The two decide to team up. Griffith disguised as a detective, and Betty as a maid, attend a fashionable wedding. They steal the family jewels but are discovered and chased. Their trip to Mexico is just about the fastest, funniest jaunt that has ever been seen on the screen. Police attempt to stop them at different points along the road. Each time they manage to escape by the skin of their teeth, or by the tails of their coats, as you will.

Reaching the border line after a series of delicious adventures they find their united consciences advise them to return the gems. Whereupon, with at least two hundred police hot on their trail, they retrace their steps. Arriving just in time to deliver the loot to its rightful owner, they are surprised by a nice check for what he believes is their "honesty and bravery." With this they start on "Paths to Paradise."

If you want to see a picture that is different and which will provide enough laughs to last a month, don't miss "Paths to Paradise."

Tom Santschi, Fred Kelsey, Bert Woodruff and others appear in support.

COLUMBIA PICTURES
SUGGESTS PROBLEM OF FILM MATHEMATICS

The new Paramount picture, "Adventure," which made its local debut at the Columbia Theatre last night, suggests a problem in film mathematics. Take a couple of brave, fearless, white men—multiply that by several hundred head-hunting cannibals; then add one woman soldier of fortune and two unscrupulous money-lenders; divide the sum total by one romance and at least a dozen dynamic thrills—and the answer is—"Adventure."

There can only be one correct answer and that is—"Adventure," the title of this latest of dramatic screen plays, which Victor Fleming produced from Jack London's famous novel of the same name.

Here is a story so crowded with incident and action, so replete with surprising developments and unexpected turns that not for a moment does it fail to hold the attention and grip the interest of the spectator.

The story is "Circe the Enchantress," the playhouse version of which is now showing at the Coliseum Theatre.

Mr. Ibanez saw two of Miss Murray's Metro pictures in Paris more than a year ago. He was so impressed by Miss Murray's ability and vivacity, that he told a friend who was with him at the theatre, that he would like to write a story for her.

Several months ago this friend came to the United States and happened to mention somewhere what Ibanez had said. The word was passed along until it reached Miss Murray.

"Circe the Enchantress" is a Metro-Goldwyn picture presented by Robert Z. Leonard and produced by Tiffany Productions of which Mr. Leonard is director general and M. H. Hoffman is general manager. Included in the excellent cast appearing in support of Miss Murray are James Kirkwood, William Haines, Charles Gerard, Thomas Ricketts, Gene Cameron and Lillian Langdon.

"QUO VADIS" IS DRAWING LARGE
CAPITOL CROWDS

The motion picture "fan" of today demands thrills, adventure, love interest and "something to carry home and think about."

"In Quo Vadis," First National's gigantic film version of the Sienkiewicz novel, he will get all of this and more. He will have more thrills than he ever had in one evening of his life; he will behold love that transforms base metal into pure gold; he will see the government in ancient times and the birth and spread of the Christian faith.

"Quo Vadis" is one of the most absorbingly interesting and thrilling productions that has ever been screened. It is correct historically, by delightful artistically and perfect in detail and perspective, besides being a profound psychological study.

The scene is set in Rome in the time of Nero, most corrupt of the Caesars, when the Eternal City was the melting pot of the world. The contrast between Nero and the Apostle Peter, the Empress Poppaea Augusta and Lygia, the Christian maiden, with the transformation of Vindex's life and character through his love for Lygia are as vivid as anything in the drama or literature. The scenes are tremendously real and spectacular.

Nothing more realistic has ever been accomplished in photographic art than the portrayal of the great royal banquets, the burning of Rome and the scenes in the arena—the tossing of the Christians to the lions, Ursula's rescue of Lygia from the back of the raging bull, and others.

Emil Jannings, whose characterizations in "Passions," "Reception" and other pictures, won him international fame, has the role of Nero and carries off the honors of the production.

American screen patrons are introduced to a new leading woman in the person of Lillian Hall Davis, noted English star. As Lygia she makes her debut on the screen in this country and gives promise of becoming a favorite here.

"Quo Vadis" will continue at the Capitol Theatre until Saturday.

FAMOUS CARTOON CHARACTERS ARE BROUGHT TO LIFE

The test of time has placed "Mutt and Jeff" in the front rank of celebrated cartoon characters, and when the famous personages were brought to life at the Playhouse last night in the musical comedy of the same name, unbounded enthusiasm reigned supreme.

Frank Morton was the little "Jeff" of the production, with Jess Le Roy, a newcomer to the company, as the "Mutt." The tribulations of the two friends (?) were faithfully depicted in the numerous comedy situations, the laughs being maintained and prolonged.

Music, stage settings and costumes made a harmonious blend, the whole registering a distinct hit with the first night crowd. "The Age of Desire" is the current screen feature and contains in its cast such well-known names as Mary Philbin, Myrtle Stedman and William Collier.

Coast To Coast Golf Match Latest Stunt
Masked Marvel To Start Marathon Affair

THE MASKED MARVEL

Miami, Fla., June 22.—The world's greatest marathon golf match is in the making.

It will start at the water's edge of the West Coast, where the placid

Pacific Ocean swallows a setting sun, and end at the rock-fringed coast of the East, where the stormy Atlantic bids Old Sol "Good morning."

The entire United States is this gigantic golf course; the highways and byways will constitute the fairways and eighteen of the larger cities the "greens."

Playing in this most unique match will be Mr. X, champion long-distance golfer of all times; the greatest swinger of a club since the days when Abel knocked Cain for a goal in better than par. Pitted against him will be none other than old "Colonel Bogey."

The match will start early this Summer. It will end some time in Midwinter and in Miami. Here Mr. X will rest at the 19th hole, commune with "Colonel Bogey" as well as other congenial spirits and recount his tallies for an all-time record.

Playing the largest course ever laid out, this modern Christopher Columbus of golfdom will play across the entire United States.

Boy, page Mr. Bogey, please.

In golf, Mr. Bogey is usually a known quantity, but this time is an uncertainty. Speaking, approximately in large figures, this intrepid golfer will traverse a distance equal to 1,400 championship courses, averaging seventy-one to seventy-two strokes for par. This would mean close to 100,000 healthy clubs to cover this titanic journey.

The match will be played under the auspices of the Southern Golfer and will be managed by "Dickey"

WALTER HAGEN

Martin, sports director for Miami. Mr. X will finish his trip in time to compete in the third annual international professional tournament to be held here.

To make the unique stunt all the more mysterious, Mr. X, aside from keeping his name a secret, will also conceal his facial features by wearing a mask on all occasions.

Mr. X will be one of the game's stars. Walter Hagen admits that much. Celebrities like Hagen, Melhorn, Kirkwood and others will play exhibition matches with the masked marvel en route.

By Fall we will know the coast to coast par for overland golf. This knowledge, however, will not play so important a part in the welfare of our country as the progress made in aviation or radio. But it's interesting, if true.

INTERNATIONAL CITY
PLAN PUT FORWARD

Suggestion Made U.S. Use Debt Money to Create Centre in Brussels

Brussels, June 22.—The important bearing the early settlement of war debts has upon the economic situation of the world was again emphasized at the congress of the International Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Sir Alan C. Anderson, deputy governor of the Bank of England, speaking on shipping problems, declared that until the debts were out of the way, the recovery of the languishing marine trade would be impossible.

The British delegate bore rather harshly upon government-owned shipping, asserted it was partly responsible for the world trade stagnation and furnishing figures to show how profitless it was. Australia, he said, lost £11,000,000 on her fleet, the United States $24,000,000, Canada $2,250,000 and France £2,500,000.

SHIPS BROKEN UP

The British representative said that if world trade returned to the point where it was before the Great War there would be enough work for the entire world's tonnage, but 12,000,000 tons of shipping was laid up, while some owners were breaking up their ships. The world carrying trade had decreased twenty-three per cent as compared with 1913, while tonnage had increased 35,000,000 tons.

COURSE OF TRAINING FOR FOX BREEDERS

North East, Pa., June 22.—Fashion has forced another profession into the already long list of subjects in the "higher education" of the United States, namely, expert fox breeding.

A school in fox breeding, with a class of ambitious young men recruited from all over the country, opened to-day on a 75-acre fox ranch three miles from North East. A force of professors, expert in the ways and ways of foxes, began training men competent to cater to the ever-growing demand of well-dressed women for exquisite furs.

The new institution is the Rusch School of Fox Breeding, named after its founder, Louis Edward Rusch of Washington, D.C., who is president of the American Fox Institute. This class will have an eight-week Summer course.

The instruction will cover the history of fox breeding in this and other countries, elementary zoology, the principles of animal heredity, and breeding and outbreeding; in general, the relation of the fox industry to American business life and its opportunities as a career. Students will be given practical experience in caring for the animals.

According to Mr. Rusch, the school is not operated for profit. It is supported through the voluntary contributions of men who have faith in the silver fox industry.

Mr. Rusch declares that during its short existence as an established industry in America, the silver black fox fur producing business had now reached the point where it represented an investment of more than $12,000,000.

Things worthless singly are useful collectively.

VOTES GIVEN FOR NEW UNITED CHURCH

Forty-three Presbyterian Congregations in Two Provinces Stated Views Yesterday

Toronto, June 22.—The Church Union Bureau of Information here yesterday issued the following statement:

A total of forty-three Presbyterian congregations in Manitoba and New Brunswick is reported as voting Sunday to remain in the United Church of Canada. Not one is reported to have voted out. The voting in these two provinces was by a show of hands at congregational meetings.

It should be noted that every congregation in Manitoba and New Brunswick is already in the United Church and any congregation that votes non-concurrence votes out of the United Church of Canada.

In Winnipeg there are forty-six congregations in the United Church. Not one has voted out. The total membership of the United Church in Winnipeg is over 20,000, while the total non-concurring vote in the city is 712.

SHORT LUMBER IS NEW PLAN URGED

Washington, June 22.—General use of short-length lumber, nine feet or less, would save enough forest material, now wasted, to build 300,000 eight-room dwellings annually, according to Arthur T. Upson, lumber technologist of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association of the United States. The association has set up that objective as part of its contribution to the crusade on industrial waste being waged by Herbert Hoover.

Data gathered by the association, the United States forest products laboratory at Madison, Wisconsin, and the lumber division of the Department of Commerce are now in the hands of a committee which is considering how to stimulate the public demand for short lengths, which are said to be cheaper and usually of better quality than long lumber.

Mr. Upson said the short-length economy proposed would be equivalent in forest conservation to giving the 20,000 lumber mills of the United States an entire year's holiday every tenth year, or about 35,000,000,000 feet of lumber, which would require all the saw-timber on 250,000 acres of land.

WORLD POULTRY CONGRESS

Edmonton, June 22.—Prof. F. C. Elford of the Dominion poultry branch is in this city conferring with the Provincial Department of Agriculture in regard to arrangements for the World's Poultry Congress, which is to be held in Canada in 1927.

He says that congress, which is held every three years, will be attended by about 1,000 delegates from thirty different countries, and that there will be some 10,000 birds on exhibition.

Loss of Library Was Greater Than Loss of Money

Nelson, June 22.—A. D. Papazian, Nelson jeweler, once a Turkish subject in Armenia, heir with his brother in Cairo, Egypt, to the $200,000 estate of his uncle, a Constantinople jeweler, has been advised, by his lawyers in Constantinople that neither he nor his brother, having left Turkish soil, can participate in the estate, even though they should return to Turkey.

Mr. Papazian says he had not counted on the money very much, and that he regards the destruction of his library last week in a fire that destroyed a house belonging to his wife as a greater loss.

"Dad," asked Freddie, "what does this newspaper mean by scientific salesmanship?"

"Well, my boy," replied the father, "it means selling a dress suit to a man who came into the shop to buy a pair of gloves."

TWO DOGS—$10,000.—Introducing Soutouki and Mitsouki, two Pekingese dogs just purchased in Paris by Marcelle Lucas, dancer and wife of a wealthy clubman. These dogs are not watch dogs. Nor are they able to herd sheep or cattle. They are not sturdy enough to be playmates of children or hiking companions of adults. They are not hunting dogs, nor do they catch rats or mice. Soutouki and Mitsouki do not eat scraps from the table. More attention is paid to their diet than to that of a baby. The one thing they can do best is to sleep on a silk pillow. Yet their new owner paid $10,000 for them. Ten thousand dollars would save the lives of many babies by providing good milk during such a heated period as crowded cities in the East have just experienced. It would help to keep thousands of humans from starving in the Near East. The interest from that sum would keep an old man or woman out of the poor house.

How to make Delicious Strawberry Jam in 15 minutes New method that never fails—

The day of hard work over a hot stove and the guess-work, with its worry—and often with its loss of sugar and fruit—in jam and jelly making, is past and gone. A nationally-known jelly maker has found the way to extract pectin—that substance in fruit which makes the juice "jelly" or set when boiled with sugar—and then to refine and concentrate it for housewives. So wonderful is this product called Certo (Surejell) that over three million women have adopted its use within three years. With it anybody who will follow a simple recipe can now make jam or jelly with any kind of fruit, without failure, in a few minutes.

The Certo method is as simple and accurate as "two and two make four." With Certo you boil only one minute, not the indefinite period of the old method. This one minute's boiling saves your precious time, and it also saves the juice, the flavor and the color of the fruit, which was formerly boiled away. Extra sugar is required to transform this juice and flavor into jam and jelly, with the Certo method, the result that you get one-half more from the same amount of fruit at less cost per glass. Actually you have the same amount of sugar in a glass of jam or jelly, whether made with Certo or by the old, wasteful method, but with Certo, from 2 pounds of berries you now make 5 pounds of jam, against only 3 pounds by the old method. This one-minute boiling also preserves the real color and flavor.

Try this Simple Recipe

Crush thoroughly about 2 quarts berries in single layers, so that each berry is actually crushed or broken up to a pulp. Best results are obtained by running berries through a food chopper. This allows fruit to quickly absorb the sugar during the short boil and prevents fruit rising to the top or floating. Measure 4 level cups crushed berries into large kettle, add 7 level cups (3 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to a full, rolling boil and boil hard from 1 to 2 minutes, remove from fire and stir in ½ bottle (scant ½ cup) Certo. Skim and stir repeatedly for just 5 minutes after taking from fire, to cool slightly. Then pour quickly and seal hot.

Use same recipe for Loganberry or Blackberry jam.

The Certo Recipe Booklet with every bottle contains 73 recipes for making the most delicious jams and jellies.

OLD CEMETERY IN BELLEVILLE TO BE NEW AUTO CAMP

Belleville, Ont., June 22.—The old Dundas Street cemetery in Belleville, where the last recorded burial was in 1864, is being cleared up by the city, and is to be turned into a motor tourist camping park, and the day after the City Council voted funds there were men at work clearing away the brush which covered thickly the acre of ground where slept at one time many of the pioneers of the vicinity.

Search for stones is rather a weary task. Scores of the finest monuments which marked the landscape in the old graveyard now how their heads erect in Belleville Cemetery. But only small stones remain in the Dundas Street grounds. Few are erect; many are in the ground black with age and moss and so scarred, broken and disfigured that they are but shards. All but one of the stones are of marble and mainly of the slab type, although there are a few fallen shafts leaning from the base to the ground, the apex buried in the earth. Some are illegible with the hand of time on them, but others have stood the aging well.

DIED IN 1817
The oldest indication of burial is on a stone which bears an inscription to the memory of a daughter of John and Ann Purdy, who died December 8, 1817.

The marble slabs bear the yew tree in relief, an open Bible, or a religious inscription and so on, so familiar to those acquainted with the older cemeteries.

There must have been many cases of exhumation, for the surface of the ground is broken as if whole plots had been torn open to get out bodies. The sunken hollows of many cemeteries do not show here, for the ground is rough and all the signs point to a great activity in days gone by when friends removed the remains of relatives to a more kempt place.

One plot still remains quite intact. That is the Steele plot, carefully guarded by an iron fence with marble corner posts. The marble slab is still standing, but inclined to the East. The ground is covered by trees and few people have seen that plot for it is in the densest of brush. The monument records an inscription of a death in 1862.

The latest recorded death is that of D. S. Vandervoort, who passed away on February 20, 1864, at the age of forty-four years. There were later burials—indeed they are thought to have continued until the seventies. Most of the present stones in the graveyard are of the fifties and sixties. The thirties showed few stones erected. The grounds were opened for burial probably in the late twenties, although there are believed to have been earlier interments.

City Engineer Campbell said he would collect the stones and endeavor to make some memorial for them.

There are numerous footstones about the ground.

Crop Conditions in Alberta Are Reported

Edmonton, June 22.—Crop conditions throughout the Province of Alberta, generally speaking, are better than for ten years, according to the Provincial Department of Agriculture periodical crop report. There is in certain districts, however, a serious situation as a result of widespread damage by wireworms and cutworms. Further information received by the Department indicates that in certain districts in the eastern part of the province the yield will only be forty per cent normal. Poor germination is noticed also in some districts. General growth and precipitation conditions are very satisfactory. The abandonment of a considerable territory in the southeastern section of the province during the past year has resulted in a smaller general increase in wheat acreage than usual.

TO APPEAL CASE

Saskatoon, June 22.—Justices of the Peace Caldwell and White at Yorkton yesterday dismissed the charge against Fred L. Klump of using false statements against A. C. Stewart, a Progressive candidate in the recent provincial election, the case coming to a close before any evidence was called for the defence. Mr. Stewart was ordered to pay costs amounting to $20. Notice of appeal was given.

PRINCE OF WALES OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

Beginning of Thirty-second
Year Finds Heir to Throne
Touring South Africa

Johannesburg, June 22.—The Prince of Wales ushered in his thirty-second birthday in the small hours of this morning, dancing to the light of candles and matches held by other guests at a party given by the Empire Service League. This emergency form of lighting was necessitated when the electricity failed for half an hour.

Despite his night of dancing the Prince was up at a fairly early hour in anticipation of a busy day, including eight formal engagements, not to mention numerous side trips into the country and other affairs. To-day was the Prince's second birthday away from home, since the Great War. The other was during his Australian tour in 1920.

BODY WAS FOUND

Kerobert, Sask., June 22.—The body of an unknown man about fifty years of age was recovered from Tramping Lake Sunday night by a party of picnickers who noticed it floating a few yards from the shore. The body had been in the water a few days. The index finger of the right hand was missing.

Effort For Better Municipal Music

New York, June 22.—A municipal music committee, which is to work nationally to secure more and better music with the aid of municipal appropriations, was announced to-day by Joseph Lee, president of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, under whose auspices the committee has been formed. The committee reports a recent survey by the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music, according to which 210 municipalities appropriate annually nearly $2,000,000 for music while 285 others spend nothing at all for this purpose. It also calls attention to the power of music in building citizenship and community morals.

The activities for which appropriations will be encouraged include open air band concerts, community orchestras, municipal organ recitals, civic auditoriums, community singing and civic opera.

EDMONTON STRIKE

Edmonton, June 22.—The strike of the members of the staff of The Edmonton Bulletin, who belong to the International Typographical Union, which commenced last Friday, is still unsettled. Both the strikers and the management of the paper are standing firm, and from present appearances there is little likelihood of an agreement being reached in the immediate future.

TIMES CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

Another collection of three-letter words! But there is quite a sprinkling of words ranging from two to seven letters long. And one, main support of them all, has eleven letters in it.

Cross-word Puzzle 2347

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS-WORD PUZZLE
Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may begin both a horizontal and a vertical word. The definitions for the words to fill the form are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the grid. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-words to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions. The correct solution of to-day's puzzle will be printed in the next issue of The Times.

"The Steadfast Heart"

By Clarence Budington Kelland

Angus Burke had not appeared, was not as yet missed by his busy, excited household. He delayed his appearance as long as he dared, shoring up by as much as might be ventured the time of his suffering. For he knew he was about to suffer. At last he forced himself to approach the gate, stopped with his hand on the post and looked at the scene, striving to compel himself to enter. "Put your hat upstairs," she said, abruptly left her companion and hurried to him.

"Angus," she cried, "come in. . . I'm so glad you came."

He followed her to the house, looking resolutely before him. He knew he must be observed, was informed by an extra, well-developed sense of the commotion his appearance created of whisperings and nudgings and of staring eyes. The general chatter alienated itself as it will on some awkward, embarrassing event. Lydia chattered on.

"Put your hat upstairs," she said, "I'll wait for you."

He went up obediently. As he descended he fumbled in his pocket for a small package.

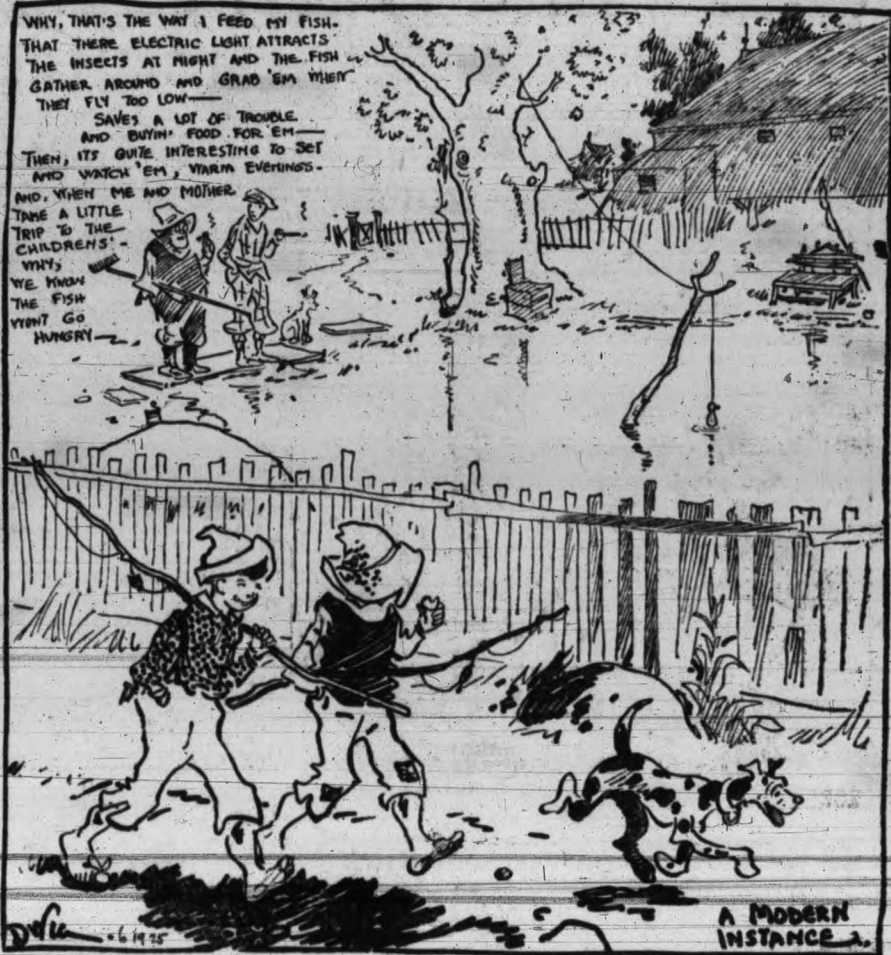

"Here," he said awkwardly, extending it to Lydia.

"A present?" Oh! . . . You remembered," she said, a slender, vivid hand on his arm—a touch he was to remember for years, his first contact with her. He winced. "I shall like it better than anybody else's," she said. "I know I shall."

"I didn't know. . . I never bought a present before. . . It was hard to decide. . . If only she had known how hard it had been to decide, what hours of thought, of mental agony had gone to the selection of that small gift!"

Lydia wondered what it might be, was almost afraid to open it, fearing some absurdity which would lay Angus open to the ridicule of her friends, but it is to her credit that she smiled brightly and removed the

SCHOOL DAYS By DWIG

Angus smiled. "I will watch," he said, a trifle wistfully.

At last Lydia left him with a little group and excused herself to attend to other duties of hospitality. Angus knew a sensation of breathlessness, like a man cast up on a sand bar. He did not know what to do, or what to say; yet his face was imperturbable, grave, noteworthy in its gravity. He wished himself a thousand miles away, yet his uneasiness was not apparent. To eyes which did not know his history he seemed a young man of fine poise and bearing.

"Won't you sit down here?" invited a girl whose name he did not remember—a guest in Rainbow. It was a compliment to this bearing of it, though he was unconscious of it. She made a place beside her and began to prattle to him—and because he knew she did not know him, did not realize to whom she was talking, and because she possessed social graces of whose very existence he was unaware, he found himself inexplicably at ease.

"I've met almost everybody here before," she said. "I've been in Rainbow two weeks, you know. How is it? I have never seen you? Have you been away?"

"No, I haven't been away."

"I presume you are too busy and important to bother with calls and parties, and such things. Somehow you look more important than these other boys. Why is it?" she looked at him through her lashes and thought what a fine, interesting boy he was.

"I never go places," he said slowly. "This is the first party I was ever at."

"You're making fun of me."

"No." He shook his head and did not look at her.

"But—" she hesitated, intrigued, yet feeling she was treading on forbidden ground. Abruptly she changed the subject to the safer one of books, that refuge of the young, and to happenings in the world—to comic issues and to the infinite—and Angus found himself talking, for here were matters he was equipped to discuss. These were matters about which he talked to Dave Wilkins and to Craig Browning, matters which interested him, called out the best that was in him—displayed a quick intelligence, a ready expression of ideas, and no mean originality of thought. He did not know he was talking to one who was, in effect, a guest of honor, to a girl whose social place in the world outside Rainbow was one to which even Lydia Canfield looked with respect and possibly with envy. She regarded Angus with ever growing surprise. He was the sort of young man she had not expected to encounter in this backwater of Rainbow.

"Hush. . . here she comes now. . . I'm going to tell her what I think."

"Better not."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, June 23, 1900.

A conference was held in the City Hall yesterday between the city council and the agents and owners of the shacks on Government Street, between Cormorant and Fisguard Streets, which have recently been condemned by the sanitary inspector.

About four hundred children and adherents of the Reformed Episcopal Sunday School attended a picnic at Bagan Bay Park to-day.

The C.P.N. liner Tartar arrived at quarantine from Japan this morning and at 6 o'clock this evening will come into the Outer Wharf.

On the Caledonia diamond this afternoon the Amity and Victoria baseball nines are crossing bats for the first time this season.

REV. DR. SAUNBY DIED LAST NIGHT

Well-known Pastor Had Long Experience in Japan Mission Field; Filled Local Pulpits

Following the recurrence three weeks ago of an illness contracted during his long missionary career in Japan, Rev. John William Saunby, B.A., D.D., passed away at his home on Sumas Street last evening. Dr. Saunby was operated upon recently but in spite of every medical attention it was found impossible to save his life, the end coming about 8 o'clock last evening.

The late Dr. Saunby was born in Ottawa on August 23, 1858. He felt the call for mission service as a youth and after a period of training went to Japan in 1886, where he was engaged in mission work for seven years. He was married to Mrs. Saunby in Yokohama in 1887. At the end of that time he returned to Canada and preached at Calgary, Port Arthur, Medicine Hat, Carman and Killarney. He was well known all over Canada for his illustrated lectures on Japan.

He returned to Japan in 1910, spending eleven years on his second mission to the Orient. He returned to Victoria four years ago, and has been pastor of the Centennial Church, Wilkinson Road Church, and the James Bay (Methodist) United Church before retiring from active service. Dr. Saunby was the author of a book, "The New Chivalry of Japan."

He is survived by his widow and an only son, William Elson Saunby, who arrived in the city in time to see his father before he passed away.

The funeral will be held from McCall Bros. Funeral Home on Wednesday, proceeding to the Metropolitan Church, where services will be held at 2:45 p.m. Rev. C. M. Tate will conduct the services, assisted by Rev. G. W. Dean of Salt Spring Island and other city pastors. Interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

CRATED FISH MUST GO SAY COUNCILLORS

No More Under-water Supplies Rules Esquimalt Council

Chief Inspector of Fisheries Suggests Remedy in Dilemma

"The retention of live fish in boats, crates or other enclosure in any waters of British Columbia is prohibited; provided, however, that the same may be retained alive in a fishing boat during fishing operations on the fishing grounds and while in transit from said grounds to the market."

The foregoing excerpt from the Provincial Health Regulations, the Esquimalt Council was told last night, was its answer to the complaint against Chinese fish dealers who were said to be openly keeping fish alive in Esquimalt Harbor. Both the Provincial Department of Health and the Esquimalt Police Council took action, the council was further instructed by Gerald H. Selinger, municipal solicitor.

Two weeks ago the council received a complaint from Councillor Nicol and others who stated that Chinese operators had anchored a float in Esquimalt Harbor free from all land and from that source fish were brought ashore to vendors' trucks, waiting at the dockside. Against this practice Esquimalt moved for advice, and letters were addressed to J. A. Motherwell, Chief Inspector of Fisheries for the Dominion and others.

Now in receipt of the information relative to the matter the Esquimalt Council intends to present a vigorous and any breach of the regulations. Already one Chinese vendor has been penalized in the Esquimalt Police Court, and other cases will be brought if the practice continues. The council's decision, its legal advice, and all correspondence in connection with the affair, was turned over to the Chief of Police.

A two-year hoist to the council's notice instructing him to install sewer connection to the premises of the Esquimalt Hotel without further delay, asked by J. E. Day, met with a firm refusal. Others had mortgaged their homes to comply with the law, said councillors, and no exception would be made in this case it was agreed.

Other applicants will be informed that the matter lies with the Medical Health Officer and the Chief of Police who have been instructed to the corporation sewer unless very persistent excuse can be offered for failure to comply.

INVITATION BY PARK ASSOCIATION

The council received and filed an invitation to become members of the Park Commissioners' Association of the Pacific Northwest. That body would hold its convention in Victoria on July 7 to July 9, the council was told. Esquimalt had only just become the owner of parks of any description and the subject was a highly contentious matter in Esquimalt, the organization will be told.

Receiving a report of work done by the Esquimalt Fire Department, the council voted $100 as a grant in aid of its funds. Action will be pressed in aid of a naval veteran of advancing years who claims to have been put ashore here from the H.M.C.S. Rainbow after he had enlisted in England for home service and should have been returned to his native port. The help of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association will be asked in the case, to follow-up correspondence undertaken in letters to the Minister of National Defence.

The Electrical Wiring By-law, patterned on the city's measure and to the same end, received first and second readings and will be up for final passage at the next regular session.

Tenders will be sought for the temporary post of special assessor of improvements in Esquimalt. Already four names are before the council but as specifications of the work that has to be done are now complete tenders will be sought anew. Forms may be secured from Mr. H. Pullen, Municipal Clerk. Esquimalt is preparing a roster of improvement values to the end that any subsequent council would have data to hand if it decided to make the initial step in imposing an improvement levy.

War Memorial Park gates again became the subject of controversy, opinion being divided as before as to just what should be placed on the gateway by way of inscription. A.D. 1924 is the illuminating message now there in brass and masonry. This, felt some of the council, fell a little short of expressing the idea of a war memorial. It would be as a foundation date thought others. No action was taken. After other and minor business the council rose.

"You can count on me to be on hand with a passenger car at 1 p.m. Saturday, June 27, to meet the Admiral liner, St. President Madison at the Outer Wharf and to assist in entertaining the delegates to the National Foreign Trade Council," says a notice issued by George I. Warren, secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, in an appeal for cars. Any car owner willing to lend his car for this purpose Saturday, whether he has received a notice or not, is invited to get in touch with the Chamber of Commerce.

Alderman Todd pointed out that the Real Estate Board and the School Board are reliable and impartial bodies; he believed the council had made a mistake which should be rectified.

Alderman Marchant advised against haste in action. He recalled that he had believed prompt action in the best interest of all concerned. He had believed his attitude of support to the license by recalling that half his life had been lived on a street in Bristol where were also slaughterhouses and tanneries. Public opinion must be considered, he believed, and sentiment must prevail, therefore he was inclined to withdraw his support for the license.

"On the other hand, is it fair to put a man to such expense and then refuse the license without warning?" he asked, suggesting an exchange of properties be discussed, the mayor meanwhile to withhold the pending

Financial Statement of Victoria Day Musical Festival

Harry Charlesworth, chairman of the Victoria Day Musical Festival, and James H. Beatty, chairman in charge of the May 24 celebration, have issued the following statement on the Musical Festival:

"In presenting the financial statement of the Victoria Day Musical Festival, held at the Arena on Sunday afternoon, May 24 last, we wish first of all to extend to every individual person who has helped in its great success, our most sincere thanks.

The music committee, with the hearty co-operation of the general committee, endeavored to accomplish certain very definite and concrete things, namely:

(a) To give a really high-class concert worthy of our city as a most suitable form of commemoration of Her Majesty Queen Victoria.

(b) To raise sufficient money to complete and equip a treatment room in the Jubilee Hospital as a useful and concrete memorial of Her Majesty Queen Victoria.

(c) To meet all expenses by means of special subscriptions and sale of subscribers' tickets.

The success of the festival from a musical point of view was, we believe, unanimously admitted. The choir, the orchestra and the bands, all made a really magnificent contribution to a concert of great excellence. As will be seen the sum of $171.63 was raised for the Jubilee Hospital, and this sum will be sufficient to complete and equip the treatment room, including the provision of a special suitable toilet to mark the room as a Queen Victoria Memorial room. Also it will be noted that, thanks to the assistance of several special subscriptions and many purchasers of subscribers' tickets—expenses were more than covered. In this connection we think it should be again emphasized that this result was made possible by the splendid spirit shown by conductors, bandmen, chorists, and all connected with the function—for every one, recognizing the object for which the funds were to be used, gave most willingly of their valuable services—not one cent being paid to any one. It was a remarkable example of a co-operative community enterprise for the community's good.

In connection with the choral music and orchestral parts purchased for the festival, it is not yet possible to give a complete statement—for the final arrangements for disposition of the same have not yet been made. At the present time, however, the committee has over $20 in hand for this purpose, and this, together with other grants and contributions which are expected, will cover expenses under this heading.

When this has been accomplished the whole of the festival money has been turned over to the city authorities.

YATES STREET MORTUARY HAS LOST LICENSE

Council Votes 6-3 Against Undertaking Business in Residential Area

The City Council last night cancelled the license to operate an undertaking parlor on Yates Street, recently issued to S. J. Curry. The cancellation was preceded by reconsideration of the original motion granting the license, which was returned by Mayor Pendray for a re-vote.

The Aldermen voted as follows: In favor of the license being continued: Aldermen Marchant, Cleary, and Shanks; against: Aldermen Todd, Dewar, Blair, Mara, Cullin, and Mayor Pendray. Alderman Brown withdrew from the council during the debate, his firm having negotiated the realty sale to Mr. Curry.

Mayor Pendray surprised the aldermen by announcing that a resolution of reconsideration was not desired, and that the procedure to be followed was to re-vote on the question, the vote to be officially recorded, with the license to be given effect to the earlier authority.

Objections to the license were made by the Realty Estate Board, F. B. Pemberton, F. B. Gibbs, R. H. Kerr, the City School Board, and many others, while a petition signed by twenty-four neighboring property owners was also before the council.

H. G. Lawson, on behalf of S. J. Curry, the licensee, protested against cancellation, pointing out that the neighboring houses are mainly rooming and boarding houses. "In view of the use being made of these houses, there appears little ground for the plea of ruin of a choice residential district," he said.

Mr. Curry stated he has expended over $2,700 since the issuance of the license. $260 had been invested in carpets and furnishings. "If the license is cancelled, I shall be left with a loss of $2,440," he said.

Mayor Pendray inquired: "Mr. Lawson, would you like a funeral parlor next door to your own home?" and was told the question was unfair.

ALDERMANIC VIEWS

Alderman Todd pointed out that the Real Estate Board and the School Board are reliable and impartial bodies; he believed the council had made a mistake which should be rectified.

Alderman Marchant advised against haste in action. He recalled that he had believed prompt action in the best interest of all concerned. He had believed his attitude of support to the license by recalling that half his life had been lived on a street in Bristol where were also slaughterhouses and tanneries. Public opinion must be considered, he believed, and sentiment must prevail, therefore he was inclined to withdraw his support for the license.

"On the other hand, is it fair to put a man to such expense and then refuse the license without warning?" he asked, suggesting an exchange of properties be discussed, the mayor meanwhile to withhold the pending to serve as the nucleus of a civic library for use at community functions in the future. The music charge of the May 24 celebration, have issued the following statement on the Musical Festival:

In conclusion we would ask all Victorians to rally to the support of the Musical Festival, to be held on Sunday afternoon, June 28, at the Arena. The great choir-orchestra again under the very able direction of Dr. Hodgson, F.R.C.O., will render Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise," and a treat is in store for all who attend. With the large number of visitors who will be in the city at that time in addition to the numerous music-lovers of Victoria, the Arena should be full to overflowing.

Again we would ask all who in any way assisted to accept the most cordial thanks of the committee. There are some who doubtless deserve special mention—but it would be invidious to single out any in a success to which so many contributed.

Alderman Shanks seconded Alderman Marchant's proposal for an investigating committee, where the mayor refused to accept as an amendment to the motion under reconsideration.

UNNECESSARY LOSS

Mayor Pendray recalled that when Mr. Curry first asked for a license, he had been warned by the mayor that the venture would be extremely unpopular, therefore the onus was not entirely on the council.

Further, Mr. Curry had admitted that his expenditures had been $260 between the issuance of the license on a Friday afternoon and the notice of reconsideration given the following Monday. This sum could have been saved, the mayor believed, by cancellation of the orders placed for the goods.

After deciding upon cancellation of the license the council appointed the investigating committee, the duty of endeavoring to make an exchange of property with Mr. Curry.

BARBERS' TAXES TOO HIGH, COUNCIL TOLD BY SHANKS

Alderman Shanks Urges Cause of Fellow Craftsmen

"Paying For Joyride," Says Alderman Todd

Alderman Shanks last night supported the applications to the City Council of the Licensed Barbers' Association for reduction in the license fees charged. He believed the levy out of proportion to fees paid by the craft in other cities and to the earnings of the profession.

Alderman Todd doubted the advisability of discrimination, pointing out that all taxes and licenses are high "as a result of the joy ride of a few years ago, now being paid for."

"There are many young lawyers and doctors, selling their labor, like anyone else, who are finding the city's license demands a very high percentage of their earnings," he said, outlining inquiries now being prosecuted by the finance committee as to the incidence of license taxation. He advised the matter be referred to the finance committee, a course finally adopted.

GRANT MADE

The council voted $150 to the Athletic Union of Canada, Victoria branch, as a contribution towards the expenses of the B.C. track and field championships.

At the advice of War Commissioner Preston, the council refused to sell timber, standing on the Sooke Lake watershed, for which the Trans-Canada Lumber Company had submitted a bid. Mr. Preston objected to logging operations at the present time.

The first monthly payment of $125 from the city to Radio Station CFTV was authorized by the council.
